

Safety Message of the Day for IMEA Members

General Industry Safety Message

While many general industry operations do not change drastically day-to-day, there are still a significant amount of hazards present that could injure workers. Every year the Bureau of Labor Statistics releases injury statistics that reach into the hundreds of thousands when it comes to workers injured on the job.

While the construction industry experiences the majority of workplace fatalities, they all too often occur in general industry as well. Oftentimes, it is the same type of hazards that cause these fatalities over and over again.

Safety education and remaining vigilant in mitigating hazards by following safe work practices are critical in preventing injuries

Discussion Point:

1. What hazards do we encounter every single day that we can safely mitigate?