Good Enough Mindset Safety Message

For most of us, we have been doing our jobs long enough to know what is the right way to do something and what falls short to “good enough.” When it comes to workplace safety, “good enough” does not cut it. When addressing hazards, having this mindset will lead to exposure to risk that will eventually result in incidents and injuries occurring.

“Good enough” is a mindset that plagues individuals both at work and at home in different aspects of life. When we aim lower than what we know our potential is, we are leaving a lot on the table. When it comes to safety at work, aiming lower than what is expected can lead to serious injuries.

We all know that we should do pre-job briefings,

Question: Do you think that's a "good enough mindset"?

Answer: Yes, that's a minimum requirement. We should be going above and beyond to protect ourselves and our coworkers.

Conduct post-job briefings, there's always ways to improve!
